S&WB PLANNING HYDRANT REPAIRS IN VENETIAN ISLES

Work will require a Precautionary Boil Water Advisory

NEW ORLEANS - The Sewerage & Water Board of New Orleans (S&WB) plans to replace leaking hydrants along a water main that serves Venetian Isles. This work will require a precautionary boil water advisory for a period beginning next week for residents and businesses east of, and including, Textron Marine & Land Systems on Chef Menteur Highway.

Residents in the area may be without water for the duration of the repairs.

To better serve Venetian Isles residents, the S&WB decided to delay a planned hydrant repair near Textron. Instead, the agency is assessing the execution of several hydrant repairs at once.

Combining the repairs of several hydrants will reduce the impact of the repairs and the potential number of future boil water advisories for that area.

After the S&WB identifies the repairs, the agency will notify the public before the boil water advisory goes into effect. Meanwhile, S&WB crews will be ready to respond to any emergency that causes a sudden drop in water pressure.

If you have any questions, please call 52-WATER (529-2837).
