Sewerage and Water Board Celebrates
"National Public Works Week" – May 15-21, 2016

The Sewerage and Water Board will join with thousands of public works departments and agencies in communities across the country next week to pay tribute to the importance of "Public Works" in building and maintaining sustainable communities.

The American Public Works Association (APWA) has sponsored the event since 1960. It is a celebration and acknowledgement of the men and women who furnish, construct, operate and maintain the infrastructure and services of their communities, collectively known as Public Works.

This year's national theme is "Public Works Always There". The men and women of the Sewerage and Water Board are always there—and always ready to accept any challenge to serve our community. This year's "National Public Works Week" events are listed below.
